DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. This application contains claims drawn to an invention nonelected with traverse in the paper filed 9/8/06. A complete reply to the final rejection must include cancellation of nonelected claims or other appropriate action (37 CFR 1.144) See MPEP § 821.01.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by WO 00/20221.

WO 00/20221 discloses an aqueous dispersion comprising silicon dioxide (pyrogenically produced) in an amount of, for example, 20% at a pH of, for example, 3-4 (pages 3, 6, and 12) and a cation-providing amphoteric compound having, for example, Al wherein the amount of said compound to surface area of the silicon dioxide and also size of same each fall within the ranges called for in the instant claims (e.g. page 9) , and the use of hydrochloric acid in preparing same (page 20). At a certain point, same further possesses a negative zeta potential as set forth in Figure 1. WO 00/20221 further discloses a variety of additives including, for example, preservatives (page 19). It is expected that same would possess the particular ratio of cation-providing compound to silicon dioxide and the particular viscosity as called for in the instant claims due to similarities in processing with that of the instant invention.

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments filed 3/9/07 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive regarding WO' 221. The other previously applied prior art has been withdrawn in view of Applicant's arguments.

Applicant argues that the zeta potential in WO '221 immediately increases upon the addition of the aluminum chlorohydrate solution wherein same reaches a zeta potential of 9 mV well above the zero to negative value called for in the instant claims. Moreover, Applicant argues that at no time during this addition is a homogeneous dispersion produced with the zeta potential called for in the instant claims. It should be first noted that the instant claims recite nothing regarding the dispersion being homogeneous. Nevertheless, it is asserted in view of Figure 1 that as the first aliquot is added, the zeta potential does not immediately reach 9 mV but passes through a range of values, including zero and negative values, before attaining the 9 mV. It should be noted that the aqueous dispersion of the instant invention as claimed is attained during passage through this range of negative values (e.g. during journey from -2 mV to 9 mV).

Conclusion

4. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

Art Unit: 1761

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
